OK, Go

Their videos are creative, surprising, engaging, funny, and sometimes pure joy (doggies!). For the YouTube links below, you may have to use the “skip ad” button on the lower right of the video.

Listen to this 5 pm session at happy hour or any time when you need a break tonight or in the coming weeks.

About the band: Formed as a quartet in Chicago in 1998 and relocated to Los Angeles three years later, OK Go (Damian Kulash, Tim Nordwind, Dan Konopka, Andy Ross) have spent their career in a steady state of transformation. The four songs of the all-new Upside Out EP represent the first preview of Hungry Ghosts, due out in the fall on the band’s own Paracadute.

Hamilton in an Hour - please read this description

🕒 5:00pm - 6:00pm, Jun 17

We had technical difficulties with our original, purchased playlist, and we apologize that there is some need to skip YouTube ads here. But it is a great one-hour playlist.

To mark the July 3rd release of the film of the Broadway musical Hamilton, which won 11 Tony awards, we bring you a short sample of the inventive, varied music and lyrics that make for such a funny, moving, and compelling story of the nation's first Treasury Secretary. If you already know the music, laugh, cry, and sing along. If not, find out why Mike Pence and our Republican relatives say that it really does live up to the hype. We can't show you the vibrant choreography, staging, or costumes, and some of the language is too rough for very young ears -- hey, it's about young soldiers! -- but it reminds us why liberty and honor go hand in hand.

Marquee Plenary: Wellness Strategies to Build Resilience - CEU

🕒 9:45am - 11:00am, Jun 18

This workshop is an empowering twist on vicarious trauma. The session will cover exciting research on the neurobiology of vicarious trauma as well as talk about stress and compassion fatigue. Participants will walk away with practical tools to build resilience and buffer yourself from vicarious trauma. You will learn strategies that you can use in-the-moment, while working with clients, to set your brain up for success. We will learn how to not play the pass-the-trauma game with colleagues and how to engage in boundaried empathy. You will leave this training with an understanding of your risk for vicarious trauma, a self-care plan, resilience strategies, and tips to manage the impact from your exposure to traumatizing information.

- Neurobiology of trauma
- Identifying trauma sequelae
- Wellness strategies
- Planning and next steps
